"Swing Into Spring" Dance Tomorrow In Gym

Tomorrow night, the Green and Gray and the Block L clubs will combine to present the first annual "Swing into Spring" dance with music by Ches Kellam. It will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Gym, with a Mass to be held afterwards.

Tickets may be reserved now or purchased at the door for $3.00. Rich Hauer and Hugh Coyle, the presidents of the respective organizations, have informed us that a great deal of expense has been incurred to provide the student body with an excellent dance.

A professional decorator has been hired to provide a beautiful setting for the music of Mr. Kellam.

All Can Attend

John Byrnes, a member of the Green and Gray club, points out, "The dance itself is being run on a strictly non-profit basis, the purpose being simply the enjoyment of the dance by the entire school.

"This will be the first G&G dance that was ever open to the entire student body."

Come As A Group

Byrnes suggests that the various clubs on campus reserve a table or more, making the affair somewhat of an inter-activity dance. Any one wishing to make use of this service, make reservations as soon as possible today.

Seniors Receive Grad School Offers

Tom Dwyer has accepted a Cofin Fellowship to Princeton University. The fellowship is underwritten by General Electric.

Joe Bossle has received an award to study Industrial Management at Purdue.

Ed Metzbowser has been offered an assistantship at Penn State and Doug McCulloh, a fellowship at Notre Dame.

Mike Plott and Joe Notarangelo have been accepted to Georgetown Med School.

John Conroy, Don Culotta, Manuel Haendler, Dave Nagel, Mike Pelczar, and Frank Detorie are headed for the University of Maryland's Med. School.

Larence Schatz will go to Maryland's Dental School.

Other awards in law and history were reported in earlier Greyhound issues.

Prodey, Baynes, Slawski Also Win Elections

With an outstanding turnout of over 80% of the eligible student body voting, junior Ken Gray triumphed in Wednesday's election by an overwhelming majority. Polling 265 votes to his opponent John Connor's 107, Gray was swept into Presidency of the Student Body by great margins in all three classes, the largest from his own class.

The closest and the most bitterly contested presidential race was in the Class of '62 as John Baynes edged Ham Dugan, 72 to 65. The two had fought savagely, even by P.A. announcements.

Races in other classes were decided by large majorities as Dick Prodey swept past Bo Bavis, 77 to 41, to head next year's Senior Class. Ed Slawski also dumped Hank McGraw, 99 to 40, to take the office of Sophomore Class President.

Breakdown Of Offices

Schoolwide: Ken Gray becomes Student Body President; Dave Marshall, unopposed, is Athletic Association prexy; and the Constitution, which becomes effective next semester, was ratified 275 for, 37 against.

Class of 1961: Dick Prodey becomes president; John Heagney, unopposed, Vice president; on a write in ballot for Treasurer, Nick Leyte's 52 votes topped 48 for Joe Curran; Bob Goldsmith is unopposed Secretary; Jack Jordan edged Marty Northern, 25 to 23, for Natural Science Rep; Al Buacz is unopposed Social Science Rep; another write in, Larry Sheridan, will serve as Business Rep for the Senior Class.

Class of 1962: John Baynes is president; John Dinan unopposed Vice prexy; Treasurer was won by Ray Burchill, 80 to 51, over Bill Hartman; Secretary is Dick Moore, unopposed; Business Rep. and Social Science Rep. went to Lou French and Joe McCurdy, respectively, both unopposed; Junior Natural Science Rep. is Tom Annulis, 20 to 18 victor over Joe Baginski.

Class of 1963: Ed Slawski is prexy; Vice presidency goes to incumbent John Ramos, 82 to 61 winner over John Kent; Treasurer and Secretary go to Tom Himmel and Pete Genovese, respectively; the top two eligible pollers for the two Student Council Reps were Pete Cook (65), and Will Hoffman (34), who edged Bob Calster (29), and Ed Conery (23).

Fr. Campbell Named Associate Prof.

Four Other Faculty Members Promoted

Fr. Gerard J. Campbell, S.J., a member of the Loyola faculty since 1957 and Ph.D. graduate of Princeton, has been promoted to Associate Professor of History.

The appointment, effective next fall, was announced recently by Very Rev. Vincent F. Beatty, S.J., President of Loyola. Coupled with it are promotions of four other faculty members to the rank of Assistant Professor.

Assistant Professors

Rev. Henry St. C. Lavin, teaching at Loyola since 1958 and a Ph.D. graduate of Fordham, has been promoted to Assistant Professor of English. Father Lavin was appointed chairman of the department last fall.

Rev. Joseph A. Burke, S.J., another Fordham Ph.D. who came to Evergreen in 1958, has been named Assistant Professor of Biology.

Two promotions were made in the Physics Department. Dr. James L. Gumnick, a member of the department since 1957, and Dr. Bernard J. Weigman, member since 1958, were promoted to Assistant Professorships.

Dr. Gumnick is chairman of the Physics Department. Dr. Weigman has been acting chairman of the Mathematics Department this year.

Both Drs. Weigman and Gumnick earned their undergraduate degrees at Loyola and their doctorates at Notre Dame.

The promotions had been recommended by the Rank and Tenure Committee for faculty promotions at the college.

The Year In Review

The Greyhound has given me this opportunity to present a little summary of the record of this year's Student Council; and there are a few things I'm anxious to say. I have arbitrarily picked out a few incidents, although others could have been presented.

You may remember that last year a young lady named Shirley O'Neill dragged her dying boy friend out of the Pacific Ocean, after he had been mortally wounded by sharks, and then she baptized him with a handful of sea water, just before he lapsed into unconsciousness. This stirring story moved Pat Cullen to compose an even more stirring commendation, which the Council sent to Miss O'Neill, instructing the Correspondence Secretary not to change a single word of Pat's eloquent letter.

Pat was later commended himself by the Student Affairs Committee, a faculty committee, on the fine job he did in making a survey of the possible methods of recognizing and rewarding those students who have made significant contributions to the co-curricular activity program here at Loyola.

On the lighter side, the Council registered an objection in the name of the Student Body when one of the young ladies from Notre Dame sent over a long list of regulations to be followed at all NDM mixers. Metzbowyer and Keene collaborated on the reply, which was, I am sure, also an example of eloquent journalism.

When it became apparent to the Council that the payment of increased dues to the National Federation of Catholic College Students would not be warranted by the returns, the Council did not hesitate to pass an ordinance which ended our affiliation with NFCCS. This ordinance is now before the President of the College, and it is expected that he will sign shortly, making it official.

Last year's council recommended to the administration that students be allowed to take extra courses free, rather than having to pay the standard fee of $20 per credit. I appeared before a meeting of the above-mentioned Faculty Committee on Student Affairs late last year to answer questions. The committee endorsed the proposal, as did the Academic Council, and on 22 October of this academic year the Student Council received a communication from the Dean of Studies, telling us that the free-course plan, with some restrictions, was in effect. Certainly many students have already, and will in the future, benefit from this effort on the part of the 1958-59 Council.

Ladies At Loyola

Men At Mt. St. Agnes

"I have been impressed by the serious academic attitude of Loyola College students."

"We enjoy our trips to Mt. St. Agnes and find our classes there very profitable. But we think we prefer this arrangement to going completely co-ed."

These two remarks were made, respectively, by members of the group of two seniors from Mt. St. Agnes and five Loyola sophomores in the first Student Exchange Program between the two colleges.

From Mt. St. Agnes, Elizabeth Snyder and Claire Gorsuch are taking Differential Equations, Advanced Calculus and Matrix Algebra at Loyola.

Advanced French

Traveling to Mt. St. Agnes to take courses in Advanced French Composition and Conversation are Joe Chepaitis, Wayne Hobbs, Bob Keller, Bill Lorenz and Warren Mikles.

Offered as a three credit elective for the first time this semester, the French course is given by Sr. Mary Julie, whose French readings have enabled Keller to "understand the meaning of a French selection without translating to English."

Miss Gorsuch (Left), Miss Snyder and Mr. Haggard talk Matrix.

Advanced Calculus

With Mr. Haggard lecturing in Advanced and Matrix, and Dr. Weigman in Differentials, Miss Gorsuch pointed out that "Loyola's math courses give the important ingredients of depth and coverage necessary for a complete scientific knowledge."

The Exchange Program was set up by the schools' respective Deans and by Mr. Colimore, head of Loyola's Language Department.

City Life

The Vagabond Theatre, Baltimore's oldest and finest little theatre group closes its season this month with Thornton Wilder's "Skin of Our Teeth". The play will run for the next two weeks at the arena-style theatre in the basement of the Congress Hotel.

Then the strawhat circuit begins, which reminds us that the old Hilltop Theatre at Therapia Farms (out the Reisterstown Road about five hundred feet past the Western Maryland Railroad's bridge in Owings Mills) is under new management and has a new name, the Strawhat Theatre. Their production gets under way in early June.

Players Company will do "Pygmalion" in the Concert Hall of the Peabody Institute late this month and has scheduled three other plays for their summer run, including "The Heiress" in August.

Olney Theatre at Olney, Maryland, under the direction of the Drama Department of the Catholic University, never fails to present a season of good theatre (and in air-conditioned comfort). To reach Olney, go out route #40 to new #29 to the old #29 cut-off; the way is well-marked with signs directing the motorist to the playhouse.

Some of the posters announcing the student elections have been defaced. Is there no way Loyola can be rid of these ignorant malicious children?

Temple University has been awarded a $39,000 research contract for a survey and study of Skid Row. Any bum interested in helping them will receive a quarter for his time.

Fifteen Seniors Selected For Mohler Competition

Fifteen seniors have been nominated for this year's John R. Mohler Trophy. The award is given annually by the Loyola College Alumni Association to that senior athlete who is voted most outstanding in athletics, scholarship, and character by his fellow students.

All students who have participated in any intercollegiate sport are eligible to vote. Voting will take place in the Campus Shop on May 16, 17, and 18. The winner will be announced at the annual Athletic Banquet, May 21.

This is the fourth year that the award will be given. Don Deinlein was the winner of the trophy last year.

To be eligible the senior must have participated in inter-collegiate sports for at least three years. He should be a good student and athlete, but he need not be captain of a team, All Conference, or even a star.

The following seniors are eligible: Jerry Beck, 4 years soccer, 4 years lacrosse; John Burton, 4 years cross country, 4 years track; Bill Corcoran, 3 years track; Hugh Coyle, 4 years lacrosse; Pat Cullen, 1 year basketball, 2 years lacrosse, Vic Dragin, 4 years track; Tom Grey, 3 years basketball, 2 years track; Tom Jones, 3 years soccer; Bill Lohnes, 2 years swimming, 2 years baseball; Joe O'Hara, 3 years basketball; 2 years lacrosse; Rick Pyle, 4 years lacrosse; Paul Sherman, 4 years cross country, 4 years track; Ray Short, 4 years baseball; Mike Sneeringer, 3 years basketball, 2 years lacrosse; Mike Spiegelmire, 4 years lacrosse; Joe Weber, 4 years lacrosse; Ed Zepp, 3 years soccer, 1 year cross country, 1 year wrestling.

ROTC Summer Camp Begins June 18

Thirty-eight advanced ROTC students will head for summer camp at Fort George G. Meade on June 18. They will remain at Meade until July 9, when they transfer to Fort A.P. Hill for two weeks. The final week will be spent back at Meade.

At both the Maryland and Virginia outposts, they will be put through basic infantry training topics. There will be about 1100 college students attending this camp, going through something similar to the basic training given a private on entering the Army.

There will be a rifle and pistol camp as well as the usual field training for ROTC. Each cadet will be paid $78 a month. Training emphasis aims for better cooperation between all concerned, the Army reports.

The architect's sketch reproduced above for the Engineering Physics Building was received by Father President from Greiner & MacEwen this week. Start of construction is planned for early 1961.

Baseballers Test Jays Tuesday, Away At 3:00

Loyola's disappointed baseball team takes on Johns Hopkins next Tuesday at 3:00 p.m. on the Jays home field.

The Hounds chances to repeat as the Mason-Dixon Northern Division champs received a severe jolt Monday as the Greyhounds (6-3) dropped the second game of a double-header to Mt. St. Marys 4 to 3, while first place Western Md. (5-1) edged Washington College 6 to 5. The Mounts scored three runs in the first off Phil Potter and one more in the third and then held the Hounds off in the late innings.

In the opener Ray Short hurled a sparkling one hitter, stopping the Mounts 12 to 1. Ron Seager had a single, double, and a home-run, and Short had two doubles and a single.

Hounds Take Two From A.U.

On April 27 Loyola swept both ends of a double-header from A.U. 2-0 and 7-3.

Ray Short hurled a three hitter to win the opener and Phil Potter won the nightcap.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By ROL STURM
Greyhound Sports Editor

A sports column in last Sunday's News-Post voiced a highly critical opinion of the Hopkins-Loyola lacrosse series. In the opinion of the News-Post writer the series is detrimental to good sportsmanship and the best interests of the game. Loyola is seldom able to hold the score down to a respectable margin; Loyola is never able to win.

As the article mentions, two other factors come in for consideration. First, Loyola traditionally plays Hopkins in every other sports. But second, what kind of tradition is it when you, traditionally, always lose, and lose badly.

This is a forceful argument. But is it true that Loyola will never be able to compete with Hopkins successfully in lacrosse?

Perhaps the series should be dropped for the present, but with Loyola High School picking up the game the Hounds should be improving in the future. The game is steadily increasing in secondary-school popularity; other Catholic high schools in the area may start teams.

These schools usually supply Loyola with a large percentage of its athletes. If the schools pick up lacrosse, Loyola's supply of experienced talent will increase. And if this happens, the Hounds might at last be able to hold their own against the Jays.

Intramural Items

Jack Lindung pitched superlative ball, allowing three hits while striking out eight, as the Vets edged the Miniature Moleskins 2-1, last week.

The teams entered the final frame all knotted up. Pete Twardowicz opened the inning with a Texas league double between the right and center fielder. He went to third on the overthrow. Big Franny White then connected on a 2-2 pitch and lofted a sacrifice fly to the right field driving in the winning run.

The Vets seem to have found a competent pitcher in Jack Lindung. This was Jack's initial start as a slinger. Although he only allowed three hits he was constantly in trouble because of his wildness. But Jack's eight big strikeouts got him out of trouble. Not bad for a beginner!

The Vets initial run came in the third frame as Ed Metzbowler hit a 2-0 offering 275 feet over the right fielders head for a home run.

In the top of the next inning Chuck Pessagno knotted the score for the Skins with a home run. This set the stage for White's winning blow.

The team to beat still seems to be the champion Moleskin "A" team. The power laden "A" squad posted a .368 team batting average in grabbing the crown last year.

The "A's" chucker Tom Schultz, while coasting to a spotless 5-0 record, had an earned run average of .8, less than one run per game. Tom also pounded the ball at a .375 clip.

Mike Abromaitas (8) watches action as Hound 'Crossers put it on Towson. Weber looks on.

Hounds Host Hofstra Tomorrow At 2:30 p.m.

Loyola College faces its next to last lacrosse contest tomorrow when Hofstra invades the athletic field at 2:30. The game is the last home tilt of the season, their final game being at Gettysburg a week from today.

Thus far, Jimmy Lamar has continued his fine form of last year. He leads the stickers with 10 goals at his attack position while putting a lot of speed into the offense.

Catholic U. Here Monday; Kenney Hero At Towson

Loyola College's track team has its final track meet of the season on Monday at 3:00 here at Evergreen. Catholic University will oppose the Hounds in what figures to be a close meet.

The Relays

The Hounds again took top laurels in the 4-mile relay event in the Conference relays held here last Saturday. The team of Paul Sherman, Stack Burton, Lew Smith and Hank McGraw took the event in which the Hounds scored a record win last year.

He can, Kenney!

Last Wednesday the Hounds beat Towson by a scant one point. The difference was provided by the final relay race in which a freshman, Tom Kenney, fell and cut himself severely.

Kenney

This proved to be the deciding factor.

The Conference championships and finals will be held at American U. on Friday and Saturday, May 13 and May 14.

Loyola Tops Towson

Last Tuesday the Hounds topped Towson State 10-7 for their second win of the season. The Hounds played well and showed once again that they are capable of winning when playing teams in their class.

Asher Leads Scorers

Midfielders Pete Powley and Jerry Beck counted in the first period to give the Hounds a 2 to 1 lead at the end of that period. Will Asher, who was the leading scorer in the game with three goals, threw in two in a row in the second period and Marty Pilsch scored one with seconds remaining in the period as the half ended with the Hounds on top 6-4.

Pilsch got his second goal of the game in the early moments of the third period and attackman Pat Cullen tallied one with an open goal as the Hounds moved ahead 8-6. In the fourth quarter Will Asher scored his third goal of the contest and Jimmy Lamar capped the scoring for the Hounds with his second goal after getting one in the second period.

Attackman Hugh Coyle played a fine hustling game as he contributed two assists to the Hound cause.
